

Let's see this problem from a different perspective. Can you expect a tree to bear fruits after 1 months of planting? Impossible right, it just not in accordance with the law of nature. Being patient and work hard without expecting immediate results is one of the most hallmarks of a mature man. If things were easy, everyone would be able to do it easily and they will not be much value in success. In my case, I was complaining about how hard it is to study a new profession because I don't know anything about it yet. In addition, I am studying two subjects simultaneously: English 4 skills and programming. Again if speaking English is easy, everyone on the earth will be able to speak it. I was not born in an English speaking country nor I raised in English family. Therefore, being able to read, speak, write and listen at this level already proof your work ethic. Defind your standard and work relentlessly. Focus on your daily actions and decision, rather than trying to be perfect, just do the work and correct the mistakes as you progress.
