

Your current problem is insurmountable?

Can you bake a bread with mild temperature? You can't! That is the same problem you have, your mind is wandering all over the place so no wonder why you can't conquer the problem. You need the concentration of mind and spirit in order to penetrate your problems. Again you have gone the wrong way and now you need to realign with your goals and dreams. Stop letting your mind occupied with sinful thoughts and lust. When you go to public areas, control your eyes. This is very important. Some people also say that evil thoughts enter into a man's mind through his eyes. If you can concentrate your mental energy and focus only on yourself, then there is nothing that you can't not accomplish. In order to master a new skill and language, you need physical and mental discipline.
