

Feel like I'm not good enough.

Of course, everybody think they are not good enough from time to time and that is completely normal. This is because you are looking too far from your current situation. Do you remember hiking experience in Sri Lanka? Would you have given up just because the mountain is very high? Definitely not! Excactly, you took one step at a time and just like that you reached to the top. Therefore, the solution is don't try to figure out your whole life in one sitting. That's is impossible and even if it you should not be too concerned about it because your life circumstances can change significantly with every decision you make. This kind of thought reveals something deep about you as well and that is your mind has been evaded with evil thoughts. The root cause of all evil thoughts appear when you don't gurd your mind. In order to win the battle with evils, you need the help of God or Nature. That chapter will come in the following pages.
